T J Dawe is indeed "a master storyteller". This unusual piece is part personality analysis, part therapy and part personal history.

In most hands this would be a recipe for disaster, or at least terminal boredom, but Dawe imbues it with a personal charm and disarming honesty that is endearing.

His rapid-fire delivery hardly slackens and his energy is amazing as he recounts episodes from his life to illustrate his discussion of personal driving instincts, and the time flies by as he ducks and weaves across times and events.

We learn a lot about T J Dawe throughout the hour of the show but I defy anyone to leave the theatre without having also learned something about themselves.
